

YOUNG PROFESSIONALS ADVISORY COUNCIL 2025

The goal of the YPAC is to engage the next generation of conservationists and to build awareness of Houston Audubon's mission among young professionals. YPAC members have the chance to make a significant impact in the world of bird conservation through outreach and engagement and unique volunteer opportunities in support of our mission.

The inaugural Young Professionals Advisory Council kicked off in 2019 during Houston Audubon's 50th anniversary year with 17 dedicated members. This group of passionate young conservationists launched the first ever Houston Bird Week and successfully ran a contest to determine the official Bird of Houston – the Yellow-crowned Night-Heron. Since then, the YPAC has been organizing Bird Week every year. They have also had the opportunity to assist with various community projects such as park restoration, assisting with education programming, community engagement efforts, hands-on conservation, and more!
